

I am Icarus.

    I soar sun-happy.

Or mistaken,

    I dive for reflections

        and lose myself in clouds.

Good, I think,

    that my ascent is slowed.

Else I would

    shoot out past the stars

        and burn too quickly—

        a meteor